Dear Hiring Manager,

Re: Front End Web Developer Intern

I am writing this letter in response to the Front-End Web Developer Intern position posted on Indeed.com. I am a recent graduate of Computer Information Systems (CIS) from BCIT. I believe my skills and values make me a great fit for the position as well as the company.

During my studies at BCIT, I gained experience working with HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. I completed numerous projects and mock websites that gave me taught me how to create dynamic and responsive websites. During a term project, I gained valuable experience working with Node.js; we created a server to host large files that used data streams to serve the requested data. In addition to that, all my projects were under version control using GIT. I've also included a link to my GitHub profile in my included resume for your convenience.

Being at BCIT also gave me experience in setting up networks with IP routing and bridging using tools like nmtui on a UNIX based system. While setting up servers, I was also trained to maintain and configure UNIX based systems for multiple users.

My previous work experience, combined with my education at BCIT, has taught me to be an effective communicator. I learned how to write effective proposals as well as accurately convey my thoughts during presentations. I have also earned skills in how to be a team player while working in a 15-person team at my previous position at BestBuy.

I look forward to being a part of the web development team at Ofootprint Tech Services and contributing my skills as a developer and a team player. You can contact me at my cell: 778-877-9716 or my email: udaychhina@outlook.com. I look forward to hearing from you!

Sincerely,
Uday Chhina
